

July 1, 2008 Charleston County Bees Ferry Landfill stopped accepting C&D debris from private haulers who must now divert C&D debris to public landfills in adjacent counties and private C&D landfills at an increased cost. Recycling and reuse measures are an effective way to combat rising costs.

Construction Waste

By Volume

By Weight

On average, 80% of a home builder's waste stream is recyclable

Materials wasted on a jobsite are paid for twice — once for purchase and again for disposal

In 2007:

- 21% or 3.6 million tons of the SC waste stream was C&D debris
- 1.2 million tons were recycled
- 2.2 millions tons went to C&D landfills
- Remainder was incinerated or sent to MSW landfills
